

Finding The Field

Matthew, unstable, dangerous, and on the run, lives in a malevolent universe. Jack, wealthy and powerful, lives the benevolent truths of the ancient masters. Siobhan, beautiful and ageless, guards a secret that will end the lives both men thought they knew. Matthew was a child prodigy, raised in circumstances that drove him insane. He escapes from a psychiatric hospital, sets out to kill his father, then heads into the mountains, armed and desperate. He stumbles out of a snowstorm onto a high-country alpaca farm, where he encounters Jack, who closely resembles Matthews hated father. Many years earlier, Jack woke from a coma unable to remember anything of his previous life. Instead his void is filled by a strange source of enlightenment, which reveals not only how the universe works, but also how to make it bend to his will. Which he does, with spectacular success. But now, near the end of his life, Jacks remaining desire is to pass on the priceless knowledge, so he uses his powers to summon an audience. What he gets is Matthew. As the ancient wisdom is revealed, Jack is increasingly disturbed by his volatile pupil and turns to the mysterious Siobhan for advice. Who is she? What is she? The eternal truths of existence are played out at every level.
