1. The Little Lady of the Big House The Little Lady of the Big House (1915) is a novel by American writer Jack London. Biographer Clarice Stasz states that it is not autobiography, but speaks of his frank borrowing from his life with Charmian and says it is psychologically valid as a mirror of events during winter (of 1912/13). The story concerns a love triangle. 2. Lost Face and other Lost Face and Other Stories by Jack London is a group of London's short stories originally published in 1909. Lost Face is a collection of seven short stories by Jack London. It takes its name from the first short story in the book, about a European adventurer in the Yukon who outwits his Indian captors' plans to torture him. This collection includes London's best-known short story, To Build a Fire. It tells the story of a new traveler in the Klondike who ignores warnings about traveling alone and whose life depends on the ability to build a fire. Also included are Trust, That Spot, Flush of Gold, The Passing of Marcus O'Brien, and The Wit of Porportuk.
