

Parting the Waters: America in the King Years, 1954-63

This audio adaptation focuses primarily on Martin Luther King, Jr. and the key moments that defined his rise to the forefront of the civil rights movement. From Rosa Parks monumental arrest in Montgomery to Kings imprisonment in Birmingham and his triumphant march on Washington, Taylor Branch provides an unsurpassed portrait of Kings rise to greatness. He illuminates the stunning courage and private conflict, the deals, maneuvers, betrayals, and rivalries that determined history behind closed doors, at boycotts and sit-ins, on bloody freedom rides, and through siege and murder.
