

A Man To Guide Her

Ashley St. Claire is in her last year of high school, and once again her family has to move. She has to give up all of her friends and move to a small town in the south. All of the children are perfect. They say Maam and Sir to their elders, and they never talk back. On the second day of school, when she is sent to see the principal, she finds out, the hard way, why that is. Her school stills believes in corporal punishment. When her father takes the schools side and not hers, she decides to run away. But a boy in her class, Jackson, stops her. He has taken an interest in Ashley. Will she stay in this town or move away the second she graduates, thus breaking Jacksons heart? This book is about Domestic Discipline Romance, containing love-making scenes.
